

Gandhi Medical College, Hyderabad originally name People's Medical College, was founded on 14 September 1954. It was located at Humayun nagar close to the present-day Sarojini Devi Eye Hospital. On 25 June 1955, the college was inaugurated by the first president of India, Dr. Rajendra Prasad. By 1956, the government of Hyderabad agreed to take over the college and develop it. In 1958, the college was shifted to Basheer bagh. The old building has since been demolished. In 2003, the college moved to its new premises in Musheerabad. The teaching hospital for the college began as an infirmary in 1851. Developed with funds from philanthropists, the hospital was named KEM Hospital in honor of King Edward VII. The hospital was renamed Gandhi Hospital in 1958 to serve as the teaching hospital for the college
